Nearly 4,000 wine enthusiasts gather for an afternoon of fine wine and local food specialties during the Prosser Wine & Food Fair held each August.

Thousands of acres of wheat, barley and other dry-land crops are grown on the Horse Heaven Hills surrounding Prosser. Bicyclists find the hills peaceful and challenging!

Fragrant spring blossoms; sparkling fresh fruit ripe in the orchard; radiant colors of trees changing colors in the fall; and serene snow-covered hillsides in winter signal the changing seasons in rural Prosser.

The Yakima Valley is one of the greatest agricultural regions in the world, with over 300 days of sunshine, a unique irrigation system and rich volcanic soil. Delicious apples, cherries, and grapes thrive here. In addition to the many widely recognized crops, Prosser is one of only a handful of locations worldwide where hops and currants are grown commercially.

The Valley's long, warm summer days and cool nights make Prosser an ideal place for classic grape growing.
